

DAY PLANNER

Your Task: Imagine you were a regular person living in a historical civilization. You will create a day planner that details what you will be doing each hour of the day.

Instructions:

- Start with the hour of the day you would probably wake up.
- End with the hour you would probably go to sleep.
- Include an entry for every hour between those two events.
- Each entry needs to be a complete sentence and must provide detail. Do not just say “went to the market” when you should say “I went to the market to buy some meat for dinner because we have only one cow left and want her for her milk.”
- If an event lasts more than an hour then provide details of what would be happening there each hour.

DAY PLANNER

Your Task: Imagine you were a regular person living in a historical civilization. You will create a day planner that details what you will be doing each hour of the day.

Instructions:

- Start with the hour of the day you would probably wake up.
- End with the hour you would probably go to sleep.
- Include an entry for every hour between those two events.
- Each entry needs to be a complete sentence and must provide detail. Do not just say “went to the market” when you should say “I went to the market to buy some meat for dinner because we have only one cow left and want her for her milk.”
- If an event lasts more than an hour then provide details of what would be happening there each hour.